OF THE SECOND PART

ARTICLE 1
RECOGNITION AND COVERAGE

1.01

The company recognizes the union as the sole and exclusive collective bargaining agent with respect to all matters properly arising under this agreement for all of the company's hourly rated and piece-work employees at its plant in the corporation of Village of Iroquois in the Township of Matilda, save and except supervisors, persons above the rank of supervisors, office and sales staff, as certified by the Ontario Labour Relations Board, the 29th day of April 1969.

1.02

Where the masculine pronoun is used herein it shall mean and include the feminine pronoun where the context so applies.

ARTICLE 2
RELATIONSHIP

a) The company agrees that there will be no discrimination, interference, restraint or coercion exercised or practiced by the company or by any of its representatives with respect to any employee, because of his membership in or lawful activities on behalf of the union.

b) The union agrees that there will be no intimidation, interference, restraint or coercion exercised or practiced upon employees of the company by any of its members or representatives.

The union agrees that there will not be any union activities or business conducted on the premises of the company, except as permitted by this agreement.

2.03 Work Performed by Management

Personnel:

Work normally done by employees in the bargaining unit will not be performed by management personnel, except when actually instructing or training employees, in emergency cases, when it is a question of experimental work, for the production of samples, for development purposes or other research work deemed necessary by the company.

ARTICLE 3

MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS

3.01

The union acknowledges that it is exclusively the function of the company to:

- a) maintain order, discipline and efficiency;
- b) hire, discharge, classify, direct, transfer, promote, demote, lay off and suspend or otherwise discipline employees, subject to the right to lodge a grievance as herein provided;
- c) make and alter from time to time rules and regulations to be observed by the employees, provided that they are not inconsistent with the provisions of this agreement; and
- d) generally to manage the industrial enterprise in which the company is engaged and, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, to introduce or change machine processes; to make studies of and to institute changes in work loads, job assignments, wage payment methods, methods of operation and work payment rates; to determine the products to be manufactured, methods of manufacture, schedules of production, kinds and location of machines and tools to be used, processes of manufacturing, the engineering and designing of its products, the control of materials and parts to be incorporated in the products produced, and the extension, limitation, curtailment or cessation of operations.

In the case where the company exercises its options as described in paragraph 3.01 c) it will notify the union in writing five (5) working days prior to the implementation of such.

The company agrees that these functions will be exercised in a manner consistent with the other provisions of this agreement.

ARTICLE 4 REPRESENTATION AND GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

a) The union may elect or appoint from employees in each of the following departments, stewards whose duties shall be to assist employees working in the steward's department, and shift where applicable, in presenting their grievances to the designated representatives of the company in accordance with the grievance procedure:

Department	Number of stewards
Yarn preparation	One (1) per shift
Weave	One (1) per shift
Dye and Bleach	One (1) per shift
Sewing	One (1) per shift
Maintenance (including Boiler House)	One (1)
Shipping and receiving	One (1) per shift

b) The company acknowledges the right of the union to appoint or select from amongst the department stewards on each shift, a representative to be known as a chief steward for that shift.

The company agrees to recognize a grievance committee composed of persons designated as officers or stewards or chief steward, the chairman of which shall be the union president or his designate, provided that not more than six (6) members of the committee (including the chairman) shall meet with the company at one time to deal with a grievance.

It is understood that the above mentioned number of union representatives will not exceed one (1) per occupation within the same department and neither exceed two (2) per department if they are on different occupations.

Employees shall not be eligible to serve as stewards or as chief steward or as members of the grievance committee unless they have been in the company's continuous employ for at least three (3) months.

The union shall keep the company notified in writing of the names of its authorized stewards and chief stewards and other officers, and the respective effective dates of their appointment. The company shall keep the union notified in writing of the names of supervisors who may be called upon to act with respect to the administration of this agreement.

The union acknowledges that the stewards and chief stewards and members of the grievance committee have their regular duties to perform on behalf of the company and that such persons will not leave their regular duties without receiving permission from their supervisor which will not be unreasonably withheld. They shall state their destination to their supervisor, together with their reasons therefore, and shall report again to their supervisor at the time of their return to work if the supervisor is in the department.

It is the mutual desire of the parties hereto that complaints of employees shall be adjusted as quickly as possible, and it is understood that an employee has no grievance until he has first given his supervisor an opportunity of adjusting his complaint. If an employee has a complaint he shall discuss it with his supervisor within twenty (20) working days after the occurrence of the circumstances giving rise to the complaint, and failing settlement it may then be taken up as a grievance within three (3) working days (seven (7) working days for employees on weekend shifts) following receipt of the supervisor's decision as follows:

Step no. 1

The employee will present his grievance in writing to his supervisor. The employee concerned and the steward or in case of absence of the steward the chief steward shall discuss the grievance with the supervisor.

Failing a settlement, the supervisor shall deliver his decision in writing three (3) working days (seven (7) working days for employees on weekend shifts) following the presentation of the grievance to him. Failing settlement:

Within three (3) working days (seven (7) working days for employees on weekend shifts) after the decision is given under Step No. 1, the grievance will be submitted in writing and presented by the employee accompanied by the steward or in case of absence of the steward by the chief steward to the personnel manager. The grievance shall state the reason(s) for the supervisor's decision under Step No. 1, being unacceptable. The personnel manager shall deliver his decision in writing within six (6) working days (seven (7) working days for employees on weekend shifts) after receiving the written grievance. Failing settlement:

Step no. 3

Within five (5) working days (seven (7) working days for employees on weekend shifts) after the decision is given under Step No. 2, the grievor with the assistance of the grievance committee will submit the grievance in writing to the plant manager or in his absence the personnel manager of the company. The grievance shall state the reason(s) for the plant manager's or personnel manager's decision under Step No. 2 being unacceptable. A meeting will then be held between the plant manager or personnel manager and the grievance committee, and an accredited representative of the union shall be present at the request of either the company or the union. The steward from the area concerned or the chief steward if he has been previously involved in the settlement of that grievance may displace one of the members of the grievance committee at such meeting. The union committee will notify the company of any steward or grievor wishing to attend a meeting concerning their grievance. The decision of the plant manager or personnel manager shall be delivered in writing within seven (7) working days.

It is understood that the plant manager or personnel manager may have such counsel and assistance as he may desire at any meeting with the union grievance committee.

Any collective grievance may be submitted by the department steward or in case of absence of the department steward by the chief steward to the shift supervisor or department supervisor within the same delays as spelled out above provided said grievance is signed by at least one of the employees involved and or one of the officers of the union.

4.08

Failing settlement under the foregoing procedure of any difference between the parties arising from the interpretation, application, administration or alleged violation of this agreement, including any question as to whether a matter is arbitrable, such difference or question may be submitted to arbitration as herein after provided. If no written request for arbitration is received within ten (10) working days after the decision under Step No. 3 is given, it shall be deemed to have been settled or abandoned.

For the purposes of articles 4 and 5 a working day means a day from Monday to Friday excluding statutory holidays and days when the Personnel Department is closed.

4.10

All agreements reached under the grievance procedure between the representatives of the company and the representatives of the union or between the employee(s) and the company provided it is not contrary to the provisions of this agreement, will be final and binding upon the company, the union and the employees.

In all steps of the grievance procedure, where no written answer has been given within the time limits specified, the employee(s) concerned or the union, as the case may be, shall be entitled to submit the grievance to the next step of the grievance procedure, including arbitration.

4.12

At any step of the grievance procedure necessary arrangements will be made to permit the conferring parties to have access to the plant to view disputed operations and to confer with necessary witnesses, provided sufficient advance notice is given.

4.13

Any and all time limits fixed by this article and article 5 may at any time be extended by written agreement between the company and the union.

4.14

At the request of either party a meeting will be held once each month between the grievance committee and a company committee appointed by the plant manager. Such meeting shall be held not more than two (2) weeks after the presentation of the proposed agenda by the party requesting the meeting.

4.15

No monetary adjustment affected under the grievance procedure or arbitration procedure shall be made retroactive prior to the date the grievance was formally presented to the company under the grievance procedure, except as to a grievance claiming payment of an improper wage rate which may be made retroactive to the date the grievance occurred.

ARTICLE 5 ARBITRATION

When a written notice for arbitration is received by the company in accordance with the terms of article 4.08, the grievance shall forthwith be submitted to a sole arbitrator to be chosen in rotation amongst the following arbitrators:

Michel Piché	Jean-Guy Clement
J.F. Weatherhill	Rolland Tremblay
Claude Lauzon

In the event that the designated sole arbitrator cannot meet the parties within a reasonable delay or in the event that the designated sole arbitrator has not yet rendered his decision on a previous grievance, the next arbitrator will be chosen.

In the event that all above mentioned arbitrators are unavailable, the parties will request that the Department of Labour of the Province of Ontario designate an arbitrator.

Should the grievance concern a task, job assignment and/or work payment rates, the arbitrator shall be a competent textile engineer appointed from any of the following:

Charron, Bourgetel et Ass. Enrg.
Woods, Gordon & Co.

or such other qualified industrial textile engineer as may be agreed upon.

5.02

No matter may be submitted to arbitration which has not been properly carried through all previous steps of the grievance procedure.

5.03 Decision:

The decision of the sole arbitrator will be final and binding on the parties to the present agreement and all other employees concerned.

5.04 Limitation of power:

The sole arbitrator shall not be authorized to make any decision inconsistent with the provisions of the agreement nor to alter, modify or amend any of this agreement.

5.05 Fees and expenses:

The fees and expenses of the sole arbitrator will be paid on the basis of one-half by the company and one-half by the union.

ARTICLE 6

DISCHARGE CASES

a) A claim by an employee who has completed his probationary period that he has been unjustly discharged shall be treated as a grievance if a written statement of such grievance is lodged with the plant manager or in his absence the personnel manager of the company within five (5) days after the employee ceases to work for the company and the first step of the grievance procedure will be omitted in any such case. The company agrees to notify the union in writing of a discharge at the time of such discharge and, if requested within twenty-four (24) hours thereafter, will hold an interview conducted by the personnel manager before the discharge is considered final. Prior to such interview the company will advise the employee's steward of the arrangement and the steward will be given the opportunity to be present at the commencement of the interview and, if the employee wishes, the steward may remain throughout the interview.

b) In case of a discharge, the company will advise the employee's available steward or in his absence the chief steward or a union representative who will be given an opportunity of being present to discuss the circumstances that required disciplinary action.

Such special grievance may be settled under the grievance and arbitration procedures by:

a) confirming the company's action in dismissing the employee;

b) reinstating the employee with full compensation for the time lost; or

c) by any other arrangement which may be deemed just and equitable and mutually agreed upon.

ARTICLE 7 STRIKES AND LOCKOUTS

The company agrees that there will be no lockout of employees and the union agrees that there will be no strike, slow-down, sit-down or other action which will interfere with work or production. If any such action takes place, the union agrees to instruct its members to carry out the provisions of this agreement and to return to work and perform their duties.

ARTICLE 8 SENIORITY

8.01 Definition:

For the purposes of this agreement, seniority means the total length of continuous service accumulated with the company by an employee, in accordance with the conditions, provided hereunder in paragraph 8.02.

8.02 a) Probationary period:

An employee will be considered on probation and will not be subject to the seniority provisions of this agreement until after he has completed sixty (60) days of work (forty (40) days of work for employees on weekend shifts) in the bargaining unit within a period of six (6) consecutive calendar months (nine (9) months for employees on weekend shifts) from the date of hire. Upon completion of such probationary period the employee's name will be placed on the seniority list of his department, with seniority dating from his date of hire. The following is the list of departments for seniority purposes:

1. Yarn preparation
2. Weave
3. Dye and bleach
4. Sewing
5. Maintenance (including Boiler House)
6. Shipping and receiving.

b) Transfer into the bargaining unit:

1. Any employee, who has worked on an occupation covered by the bargaining unit and who has been transferred before November 4th, 1987, to an occupation not covered by the agreement will be credited for seniority purposes with his total length of continuous service accumulated within the bargaining unit if he is transferred again to an occupation covered by the present agreement.

It is understood that said employee will have the right to use one of the following options when so transferred:

- Replace the least senior employee on the former occupation and shift that he held prior to his transfer outside the bargaining unit.
- Replace the least senior employee on the said former occupation and on the schedule of his choice.
- Replace the least senior employee on the shift of his choice on any occupation he has fulfilled satisfactorily prior to his transfer outside the bargaining unit.
- To be transferred on an open occupation or an occupation held by the least senior employee.

2. Any employee, who works on an occupation covered by the bargaining unit and is given an opportunity after November 4th, 1987, to attend educational or training courses or any employee trained for a non-bargaining unit occupation, will be credited for seniority purposes with his total length of continuous service, if he should be subsequently transferred into the bargaining unit within twelve (12) months of completion of said courses or training.

Prior to the commencement of said course or training, the company will inform the union in writing with the name of the employee concerned as well as an estimated period of time of the duration (maximum of twenty-four (24) consecutive months) for said course or training.

3. After November 4th, 1987, any employee who works on an occupation covered by the bargaining unit and who is subsequently transferred to an occupation not covered by this agreement will be credited for seniority purposes, with his total length of continuous service if he is transferred again into the bargaining unit within twelve (12) months.

4. In the case where an employee is reinstated into the bargaining unit as per the provisions of 8.02 b) 1, 2 and 3, said employee will remit to the union a sum equal to the amount of union dues for the period so spent up to a maximum of 24 months outside the bargaining unit.

Said remittance will be in accordance with one of the following choices made by said employee before his transfer outside the bargaining unit:

- By cash.
- By doubling his weekly union dues.
- By tripling his weekly union dues.

c) An employee who is under a probationary period can not present a grievance concerning his dismissal, transfer or demotion based on the evaluation by the company of his capacity to meet quality and quantity of work, his learning abilities and his adaptability to the group. However, unless otherwise specified, this employee enjoys the other rights and privileges provided in the present agreement.

d) The company will advise verbally the employee of the completion of his probationary period when it occurs.

Time lost in excess of nine (9) months in the case of layoff and in excess of twelve (12) months in the event of sickness or accident will not be counted in computing an employee's seniority; however, in cases covered by the Workmen's Compensation Act time lost during the period of compensation will be counted.

The provisions of this paragraph do not apply to probationary employees where time lost for any reason will not be counted in determining the completion of the probationary period.

8.04 Loss of Seniority:

An employee shall lose all seniority and his employment shall be terminated if he:

a) voluntarily quits the employ of the company;

b) is discharged for just cause and the discharge is not reversed through the grievance procedure;

c) fails for no acceptable reason within seven (7) days pursuant to notification sent by registered mail by the company to report to work following a layoff or to advise the company of his intention to report to work pursuant to the said notification;

d) has been laid off for a period of time equivalent to the length of his seniority at the time he was laid off up to a maximum of twenty-four (24) months, the whole subject to sub-paragraph (c) above;

e) is absent due to sickness or an accident for more than twelve (12) months in the case of an employee with less than five (5) years' seniority and twenty-four (24) months in the case of an employee having five (5) years' or more seniority. If an employee advises the company at the end of the said twelve (12) or twenty-four (24) month period, as the case may be, and once every six (6) months thereafter of his intention to return to work, his seniority will not be broken. These provisions do not apply in Workmen's Compensation cases and seniority will not be broken during the period of compensation.

8.05 Application for seniority:

Seniority rules are applied firstly to the employees of the department concerned before looking elsewhere in the plant.

8.06 Definition of vacancy:

For purposes of this article 8 a vacancy results either from the normal turnover of personnel, such as retirement, resignation, death, promotion, dismissal, demotion for cause or transfer of employees to jobs not covered by this bargaining unit or from an increase in the number of employees required on an occupation. The above does not imply that particular job vacancies must necessarily be filled. However, should the job remain in operation it shall be filled in accordance with the provisions of article 8.07.

8.07 In the case of job vacancies, the following procedure will apply:

a) The company will post the job vacancy notice for a period of seven (7) days on the departmental and central bulletin board and will remit a copy to the departmental steward. However, the company is not required to post any job vacancy where duration of the vacancy does not exceed sixty (60) working days. A temporary job vacancy is that which is defined under article 8.11 - Temporary transfers, sub-headings "a" to "f".

b) Employees who are interested in the job vacancy will offer their candidacy by requesting a job bid form from their supervisor.

c) If no employee in the department concerned has offered his candidacy or if no candidates are qualified in the department, the company will consider from other employees who have applied.

d) In the choice of the employee to occupy the job vacancy, seniority shall prevail among employees who have offered their candidacy providing they are qualified to perform the occupation for which they are a candidate as outlined in paragraph 8.09.

e) 1. The company will post acknowledgement notices for all candidates to any job vacancies. The name of the successful applicant will be posted on a job award notice for any job vacancy for a period of four (4) working days.

The company will advise the successful applicant of any job vacancy within one week from the expiry date of the job posting period.

The company will send a copy of the job posting and the award of the successful candidate to the local union.

2. The company will place the successful applicant on the occupation within fifteen (15) working days of the end of the posting period except where such appointment would disrupt normal production flow and/or needs and the requirements of quality.

f) It is agreed that the company may temporarily fill the job vacancy during the posting period without restriction.

g) The employees who have bid for the job vacancy as described in sub-paragraph (b) above are the only ones who may later file a grievance.

h) An employee who has thus been granted an occupation at an equivalent or lower contractual wage rated job will not be permitted to bid to his former occupation or an equivalent or lower contractual rated job for any future job vacancy during the ensuing year.

In any cases when an employee has been granted an occupation at an equivalent or lower contractual wage rate job, he will then receive the contractual wage rate of the job he has been granted if it is unmeasured or measured hourly, and if it is a piece work job he will than receive the guarantee rate of said job or according to his performance.

i) In exceptional cases where employees who have been promoted and who cannot perform during the training period, a demotion or transfer can be considered only by mutual agreement of both parties.

When the company nevertheless wishes to demote or transfer an employee for reasons of ill-health, the employee will be given preference according to his seniority if it is an occupation which he has previously fulfilled satisfactorily in the same department or if he has not previously fulfilled this occupation, if he is qualified to do the work. This, however, does not preclude the right of the employee who is demoted or transferred from lodging a grievance on the basis that his demotion or transfer was unjustified.

8.08 Preference of assignment:

In the case of preference of assignment requested by employees the following will apply:

a) When a vacancy occurs on an occupation on a particular shift, a maximum of one (1) change in assignment will be permitted upon request of an employee working on the occupation and shift concerned on the basis of seniority.

b) The preference of assignment as described above will be granted to the employee currently working on the occupation and shift concerned prior to filling the job vacancy.

c) The parties agree that in no other circumstances will there be a preference of assignment among the employees currently working on the same occupation.

1. The following factors will be considered in evaluating an employee's skill, competence and ability related to the performance of the work for which he is a candidate.

a) Physical requirements of the occupation and physical qualification of the candidate.

b) Results of aptitude tests.

c) Successful participation in training courses for the occupation for which he is a candidate. These training courses may take the form of theoretical courses, on-the-job training in the department or in the training center.

d) Licences where required.

e) For the jobs involving the handling of a crew, the ability to direct people shall also be considered.

f) To utilise an aptitude test as a factor of consideration to evaluate an employee, the company must:

1. Consider new experience since last test and allow an employee applying for a job to undertake same test as other candidates.

2. Act same as above in cases of courses followed by an employee in relation with requirements of posted occupation.

It is understood that some of these above-mentioned factors will have more relative importance than others depending on the occupation which is vacant.

2. Should the company decide to give training courses to its employees on various occupations, the employees who are chosen will be selected according to the provisions of paragraph 8.09.

8.10 Permanent transfers:

A permanent transfer is a permanent assignment of an employee by the company to a job vacancy in another occupation at the same wage rate.

In the case of permanent transfers, the same principles will apply as outlined above in paragraph 8.09. An employee will carry his seniority with him immediately upon being transferred permanently to a different department.

It is understood and agreed that an employee on the seniority list is not obliged to accept a permanent transfer.

8.11 Temporary transfers:

A temporary transfer is a temporary assignment of an employee at the request of the company to a temporary job vacancy in another occupation at a higher wage rate, at a lower wage rate or an equivalent wage rate.

It is understood that temporary transfers from the weekday schedule to the weekend schedule and vice versa shall be voluntary with the exception that the least senior employee on the occupation and schedule in question being required to accept said transfer when the only alternative of the company is to lay-off other employees.

Temporary transfers shall be effected for a maximum period of thirty (30) calendar days except for one of the following reasons in which case the given movements will not exceed twelve (12) months.

a) To replace one or more employees who are taking their annual vacations;

b) to replace an employee absent as a result of an industrial accident or illness, or non-industrial accident or an employee absent on maternity leave;

c) to replace a transferred employee, who at the request of the company is working for another branch of C.S. Brooks Corporation or of Dominion Textile Inc., or for another company affiliated to or supplying materials or services to the company;

d) to fill a job because the company has temporarily increased certain labour requirements to meet a special situation.

It is understood that this paragraph does not imply that in cases of normal vacancies and normal conditions that articles 8.06 and 8.07 are not to be applied;

e) to replace an employee who is receiving special training or preparation for a supervisory or technical position, or to replace an employee transferred as a result of the transfer of another employee who is receiving the said special training or preparation;

f) to replace an employee absent on a special approved leave.

The company shall have the right to transfer employees on a temporary basis to fill temporary job vacancies as described in the preceding paragraph. Employees who are thus transferred will be remunerated according to the provisions of paragraph 13.02.

The company will not use a series of temporary appointments outside the job posting procedure to enable an employee to accumulate experience in order to place him in a preferential position in the event of a permanent vacancy.

8.12 Shift work:

a) If there is more than one shift in operation on any occupation, the employees will rotate every week.

b) The departmental seniority of an employee who is currently on the occupation in that department will govern preference of shifts when a vacancy occurs on that occupation.

8.13 Layoffs - One complete shift or less:

Subject to paragraph 8.14 hereunder in the event that it becomes necessary to reduce the number of employees on an occupation in a department for one (1) complete shift or less, the employees on the occupation and shift concerned will be laid off in the reverse order of seniority according to the seniority list established in paragraph 8.19. It is understood that employees so laid off will not have the right to displace other employees on other shifts or other occupation.

8.14 Layoffs - More than one (1) complete shift:

In the event that it becomes necessary to reduce the number of employees on an occupation in a department for more than one (1) complete shift to five (5) complete shifts for weekday employees or more than one (1) to three (3) complete shifts for weekend employees, the employees on the occupation with the least seniority according to the seniority list will be subject to a layoff. The employee subject to a layoff will have the right to replace an employee on a probationary period in production, or an employee with the least seniority on an occupation in his department which he had previously fulfilled satisfactorily or on an equivalent or lower rated occupation in his department provided that he is qualified to perform the work.

Notwithstanding any of the foregoing, no employee qualified under 8.09 shall be affected by a layoff out of the order of his seniority for an aggregate of more than five (5) working days for weekday employees or more than three (3) working days for weekend employees within a calendar quarter (13) weeks).

8.15 Layoffs - More than five (5)

complete shifts:

In the event that it becomes necessary to reduce the number of employees on an occupation in a department for more than five (5) complete shifts, for weekday employees or more than three (3) complete shifts for weekend employees, the employee on the occupation with the least seniority according to the seniority list established in paragraph 8.19 will be subject to layoff. The employee subject to said layoff firstly has the right to replace a probationary employee on production or an employee with the least seniority on an occupation which he has previously fulfilled satisfactorily or on an equivalent or lower ranked occupation in his department provided that he is qualified to perform the work within a maximum delay of five (5) days for weekday employees or four (4) days for employees on weekend shifts. Secondly, if the employee is unable to use the above provisions he has the right to replace a probationary employee on production or an employee with the least seniority on an occupation which he has previously fulfilled satisfactorily or an equivalent or lower ranked occupation in another department provided that he is qualified to perform the work within a maximum delay of five (5) days for weekday employees or four (4) days for employees on weekend shifts.

This last disposition can only be invoked once by an employee concerned on the occasion of each layoff and will only be applied to employees with six (6) months seniority or more.

In cases where occupations and/or complete assignments are permanently eliminated due to a reduction of machinery or technological change, this last disposition which will be extended to thirty-five (35) working days, can only be invoked once by an employee concerned on the occasion of each layoff and will be applied to employees who have at least completed their probationary period.

An employee who transfers to another department as a result of Article 8.15 will have his/her seniority transferred effective immediately when the transfer occurs. This does not eliminate the provisions of Article 8.16 (d).

N.B. It is understood that provisions of Article 8.13, 8.14 and 8.15 are to be applied within the employees regular schedule before being applied into the other schedule.

8.16 Recalls to work:

The following procedures will apply in recalling employees to work following a layoff:

Temporary Recalls:

a) Laid off employees will be recalled to work in their order of seniority in their respective departments and on the occupation which they held prior to the layoff.

However, should such employee not be available then laid off employees will be recalled to work in the order of seniority in their respective departments provided they previously fulfilled the occupation satisfactorily and provided that they meet the provisions of Article 8.09.

Further, should such employees not be available then laid off employees will be recalled to work in the order of seniority from other departments provided they previously fulfilled the occupation satisfactorily and provided that they meet the provisions of Article 8.09.

Permanent Recalls:

b) Laid off employees will be recalled to work in the order of seniority in their respective departments on an occupation which they have previously fulfilled satisfactorily and provided that they meet the provisions of Article 8.09.

However, should such employees not be available than laid off employees will be recalled to work in the order of seniority in their respective departments provided that they meet the provisions of Article 8.09.

Further, should such employees not be available then laid off employees will be recalled to work in the order of seniority from layoffs from other departments provided that they previously fulfilled the occupation satisfactorily and provided that they meet provisions of Article 8.09.

Further, should such employees not be available then laid off employees will be recalled to work in the order of seniority from layoffs from other departments provided they meet the provisions of Article 8.09.

c) However, if an employee is recalled to a new department his seniority will be transferred effective immediately when the transfer occurs. This does not eliminate the provisions of Article 8.16 - D.

New employees will not be hired until all laid off employees have been so recalled.

However, it is understood that employees will not be obliged to accept the recall to a work schedule or department different than the one they worked prior to their layoff except in the case that the only alternative for the company is to hire new employees then it is understood that the junior employee involved in, the above provisions, will be obliged to come back to work.

d) It is understood that, when an occupation or shift is again formed, the original employees on this shift or occupation who may have been transferred or demoted to another occupation and while displaced to another job have not been awarded a new occupation as a result of Article 8.07 will return to the reorganized shift or occupation provided that this happens within a period of one (1) year following their transfer or demotion except where such transfer would disrupt normal production flow and/or needs of the requirements of quality.

It is understood that the company will not use these delays to allow employees on temporary transfers to accumulate preferential position on the reformed shift.

The employee originally on the shift and the occupation must be transferred back on his shift in the shortest possible delay. After the application of this paragraph any unfilled occupations on the reformed shift are considered "Vacancies" as defined in paragraph 8.06.

8.17 Notice of change of address:

It is the duty of employees to notify the company promptly of any change of address. If an employee fails to do this, the company will not be responsible for failure of a notice to reach such employees.

8.18 Compensation:

If it is established that the seniority rights of an employee have not been respected, the sole arbitrator will have the right to determine compensation to be paid by the company, if any, up to the amount of earnings lost and change the seniority date of the employee if necessary.

8.19 Seniority list:

a) A list of seniority standings will be posted in each department showing the names of each employee in that department together with his length of continuous service with the plant in accordance with paragraph 8.01. This list will be revised every six (6) months. Copies of these posted lists shall be forwarded without delay to the union, and a copy remitted to departmental stewards and other plant union officers. After such posting, each such list shall become final with respect to the employees designated therein, except as to any employee who disputes, under the grievance procedure, the accuracy of his seniority date or the seniority date of any other employee of his department designated therein, within thirty (30) working days after the list is posted. In any event, such grievance cannot dispute the accuracy of any previous final list.

b) The accuracy of the seniority lists may be subject to revision at any time when such inaccuracy occurs as a result of typographical error.

c) The date of posting will be indicated on the seniority list.

8.20 Occupations not covered by agreement:

Appointments to occupations not covered by this agreement shall not be subject to the terms of this Article 8.

8.21 Posting for future openings:

Should the company decide to give training courses to its employees, training for future openings will be posted as an occupation without assignment and shift. The posting and selection will be done according to the provisions of Articles 8.07 and 8.09.

When the training is completed the employee will return to his or her former occupation. It is also understood that when such training is fully completed, said accumulated experience is to be taken in consideration in the event of any future lay offs.

When the occupation for which the employee was trained becomes open, it will be posted to allow preference of assignment and shift only among employees currently on the occupation. Then the employee that was trained will be required to take the opening provided the opening occurs within one year of the completion of the training period and provided the employee has not subsequent to the training period been awarded a job posting to an occupation that is a promotion over the future needs posting to which he was trained.

If more than one employee were trained in advance, seniority shall prevail with the least senior employee being required to accept the opening.

ARTICLE 9 PRODUCTIVITY

a) During the course of the present agreement all changes concerning tasks, work assignments, piece-work rates or changes in the regular duties of an hourly-paid occupation or changes from an hourly-rated occupation to piece-work rated occupation or vice versa and the establishment of new rates therefore shall be submitted by the company to the union.

b) The plant manager, upon request, at any time after the commencement of change referred to in paragraphs 9.02, 9.03 and 9.04 or at any time after a written request for a revision of element time values has been submitted under paragraph 9.05, and until such time as the change is accepted or the written request for revision is settled or a decision of the sole arbitrator is rendered, shall grant the union permission to delegate a representative to observe the effects of the said change and/or to carry out chronometrical tests himself for the purpose of verification provided the said representative does not hinder the proper functioning of the department,

If a change contemplated by the company concerning a piece-work occupation has to do with the revision of a measured work element or the addition of a measured work element not already established or the complete elimination of a measured work element, the company must, at least one (1) working week prior to the application of that change, advise the union in writing of the nature of the change.

If the change applies to a measured piece-work occupation and affects the existing standard time value by twenty percent (20%) or more, a period of adaptation will be applied.

The period of adaptation will have a maximum duration of four (4) weeks. During this period, the employees concerned will work under the new conditions. For wage payment purposes, the difference between the preceding and new standard time values will be applied progressively in four (4) equal increments over the four (4) week period of adaptation. At the conclusion of the period of adaptation, the full revised standard time values will be in effect for wage payment purposes.

When the change has been put into effect by the company, and the union does not agree with such change, a review will be made by a representative of the plant's industrial engineering department and the representative of the union. Such review will include an inspection of the job specification and summary data which formed the basis for the change. If such review does not settle the grievance, the union may refer the said change to the sole arbitrator mentioned below for his decision.

Only the work elements changed and calculations affected by the change will be subject to review by the sole arbitrator. If no request is made in writing by the union to submit such change to the sole arbitrator within fortyfive (45) days after the date it was put into effect, the change shall be deemed to be accepted.

If a change contemplated by the company concerning a piece-work occupation has to do with a revision of a measured work element or the addition of a measured work element or the complete elimination of a measured work element because of the installation of different machinery or if an hourly or piecework element because of the installation of different machinery or if a non-measured hourly occupation is to be placed by the company on measured piece-work or if a new occupation is introduced, the company must, at least two (2) working weeks prior to the application of such change, advise the union in writing of the nature of the change. On the date that such change takes place it will be considered as under a trial period, the conditions of which are defined in paragraph 9.06 and the following paragraphs.

All changes made by the company concerning piece-work occupations other than those referred to in paragraphs 9.02 and 9.03 are to be settled, if grievances arise, by the following procedure:

Step one:

A review of the grievance is to be made by an industrial engineering representative of the company and a representative of the union.

Such review will include an inspection of the job specification and test data which form the basis for the change. The representative of the union may also by arrangement with the industrial engineering representative of the company visit the premises where the grievance arose. Notice of the nature of such change will be given to the union in writing.

If no grievance is made as a result of any changes referred to in this paragraph within twenty (20) working days after the change is to be put into effect, the change shall be deemed to be accepted.

Step two:

If the review provided in step one above does not provide an immediate solution to the grievance, joint tests will be made by an industrial engineering representative of the company and a representative of the union to settle the grievance on the change concerned.

Any joint tests shall be of the same nature and to the same extent as the tests upon which the change was originally based. The extent of the joint test called for may be varied by the parties by mutual agreement.

If the results of the joint tests made by the company and the union are such as not to affect the standard time value by plus or minus 4% or less, no change is to be made in the standard time value.

If the results of the said joint tests affect the standard time value by greater than plus or minus 4%, the standard time value will be so revised and put into effect.

If the results of the said joint tests call for an increase in the standard time value by greater than 4%, retroactivity is to be paid back to the date of the change.

If the parties, after having completed the joint tests in this Step two, and after having studied their findings cannot agree on the results of the said joint tests, the union may refer the said change to the sole arbitrator mentioned below.

Step three:

The sole arbitrator shall review the change made by the company and shall make tests of the same nature and to the same extent as the tests upon which the change was originally based.

If the results of the tests made by the sole arbitrator are such as not to affect the standard time value by plus or minus 4% or less, no change is to be made in the standard time value.

If the results of the test made by the sole arbitrator affect the standard time value by greater than plus or minus 4%, the standard time value will be so revised and put into effect.

If the results of the tests made by the sole arbitrator call for an increase in the standard time value by greater than 4%, retroactivity is to be paid back to the date of the change.

It is recognized that due to their nature, changes referred to in this paragraph 9.04, may be frequent and continuing revisions of such changes to reflect modifications in conditions may be called for at any time.

a) If no change is introduced by the company but if in the opinion of the union a change has occurred of the type covered in paragraph 9.04, in case of an unsettled complaint, a grievance may be submitted for settlement, including arbitration if necessary, in accordance with the terms of paragraph 9.04.

b) If no change is introduced by the company of the type covered in paragraphs 9.02 and 9.03 but if in the opinion of the union a time of one or several elements of a standard time value requires modification, the following procedure will apply.

1. When one or more element times of a standard time value which have not been previously submitted to the sole arbitrator have been in effect and a period of one (1) year has elapsed from the date of the last acceptance by the union, it may request a revision in the said standard time value. If one or more element times of a standard time value have been arbitrated this will not preclude the balance of the element times of the said standard time value not arbitrated, from the application of this paragraph. If one or more element times of a standard time value have been previously submitted to the sole arbitrator, but if in the opinion of the union a change has occurred which had not been covered by the decision of the sole arbitrator (or submitted as a change by the company) and which in their opinion affects the standard time value such contention may be submitted by the union to the sole arbitrator for his decision. In such a case the burden of proof falls on the union.

2. Within forty-five (45) days from the written request of the union for a revision of element time values, both parties will meet to attempt to finally settle the request. Failing a mutually satisfactory settlement, the request for revision by the union may be referred to arbitration according to the dispositions of paragraph 9.11. When such a request is made for arbitration, then all the element times for a standard time value except such element times as have been previously arbitrated shall be referred to the sole arbitrator for decision.

If within the said delay of forty-five (45) days, the union does not submit its request for revision to arbitration, the said request for revision will be deemed to have been abandoned.

3. Following a request for arbitration made by the union, according to paragraph 1 if the arbitrator finds a difference from the standard time value in effect of 4% or more, then and only then shall the arbitrator decide that a change in the standard time value be put into effect in accordance with his observations. If the results of the review made by the arbitrator call for an increase in the standard time value by greater than 4%, retroactivity is to be paid back to the date of the union's request for revision.

4. For all requests for revisions which are raised during the first three (3) months following the signature of the collective labour agreement, the retroactivity, if any, will be limited to a four (4) week period following the date the request for revisions was submitted.

Following the date that the changes referred to in paragraph 9.03 above take place, a trial period of twenty (20) working days will follow.

9.07

During the trial period of twenty (20) working days, the employees concerned will work under the new conditions and be paid according to the new rate and during the said twenty (20) working days, their average hourly earnings will not be lower than their straight time average hourly earnings during the last four (4) weeks while the employees were working on piece-work during the previous six (6) months. In no case shall this guarantee of average hourly earnings extend beyond the said twenty (20) working days.

9.08

At any time during the trial period the company and the union will meet to review the results obtained during the trial period and will try to agree on the change.

Prior to the end of the sixth (6th) week following the completion of the trial period, if there is no agreement on the change, the union must notify the company and the sole arbitrator (referred to in paragraph 9.11 here after) thereof in writing by registered mail and the change will be referred to the sole arbitrator for his decision. The parties may refer the change to the sole arbitrator prior to the completion of the trial period by mutual consent.

If such a notice is not sent during the said trial period or prior to the end of the sixth (6th) week following the completion of the trial period by the union and if no notice is sent by the company within the same period of its intention to abandon the proposed change, the said change will be considered as final and accepted by both parties.

In cases where the change is submitted to the sole arbitrator, the sole arbitrator must render his decision within eight (8) additional working weeks from the date a change was submitted to him. In any event the change will remain in force until the final decision of the sole arbitrator has been rendered.

The sole arbitrator for the purpose of this article and the duration of this agreement will be an industrial engineer to be chosen by mutual agreement of the parties.

The sole arbitrator must before starting each arbitration make a sworn declaration stating that he has no pecuniary interest in the question, that he is not personally associated with or interested in a firm or company that manufactures textiles and that he is not by reason of his business affairs or any other circumstances influenced or prejudiced in favour of either employees or employers.

Each of the parties to this agreement will bear its own expenses of arbitration. The fees and expenses of the sole arbitrator will be paid for on the basis of one-half by the company and one-half by the union.

9.14

a) All grievances arising out of articles 9 and 10 shall be submitted to the sole arbitrator for decision. In any case, the decision of the sole arbitrator must be within the frame-work of the company's work measurement plan and wage payment methods and further the sole arbitrator shall not have the power to amend, alter or modify the terms of this agreement.

b) For the purposes of articles 9 and 10 of the collective labour agreement, one of the following firms will act as arbitrator as called upon:

Woods Gordon & Co.
Charron, Bourgetel et Ass. Enrg.
Leatham Simpson.

9.15

The decision of the sole arbitrator will be final and binding on the union and the company and all employees or groups concerned. In so far as wages are concerned the decision will be retroactive to the commencement of the trial period should the sole arbitrator so decide and the amount of retroactive adjustments, if any, shall be determined by the said sole arbitrator.

If at any time during the trial period the company decides to abandon the proposed change, an adjustment of wages must be made in such a manner as to ensure, that for the time during which the trial period has been in force, average hourly earnings for each employee immediately concerned are equivalent to 100% of the average hourly earnings of that employee during the last four (4) weeks while the employee was working on piece-work during the previous six (6) months.

When the company advises the union of a change in task under paragraph 9.03, it will give to the union all pertinent information and all necessary explanations concerning such change or new occupation.

9.18

Upon request, the company will, at the commencement of a trial period, make available to a designated representative of the union for examination the job specification data referring to the establishment of the task which has been placed on such trial period. It is understood and agreed that such job specification data is a confidential company document and is to be returned to the company within a reasonable delay and is not to be retained beyond the conclusion of such trial period.

Upon request, the company will, at the commencement of a trial period, supply in writing to the union the average hourly earnings of each employee placed under such trial period during the last four (4) weeks while the employee was working on piece-work during the previous six (6) months. The union will also be provided in writing, if they so request, with the average hourly weekly earnings of said employees during such trial period.

9.20

Grievances arising from changes in measured or unmeasured hourly-paid occupations or a regular assigned increase in the scheduled volume of work of such an hourly-paid occupation may also be submitted to the sole arbitrator for decision within forty-five (45) days following the occurrence of the circumstances giving rise to the grievance or knowledge of same, as the case may be. In this case, however, the sole arbitrator shall determine whether or not the changed occupation or a regularly assigned increase in the scheduled volume of work of such an hourly-paid occupation requires more than a normal daily work performance. The sole arbitrator shall decide the content of a normal daily work performance and the company will modify the content of the occupation accordingly. A normal daily work performance may be defined as the average amount of work a qualified employee working at normal pace (as defined in article 10) under standard conditions, can produce over a day.

9.21

It is understood that all changes which affect the standard time value will be taken into account in the standard time value for the occupation.

9.22

Changes in piece-work rates shall be handled in accordance with the provisions of this article where applicable.

ARTICLE 10 WAGE PAYMENT METHODS

10.01 Measured direct occupations:

a) Measured direct occupations are to be paid on the basis of piece-work rates, expressed in dollars (or cents) per production or machine unit, derived from work measurement and based on "objective hourly rates" appearing on the rate lists for piece-work occupations annexed to this agreement, except the employees under probationary period. (paragraph 8.02 of the collective agreement).

b) Measurement is based on the execution of each element of work at a reference pace under usual and normal operation conditions. The reference pace is defined as "walking three miles per hour over smooth level ground without load".

An employee on measured work with a one-hundred percent (100%) work assignment, including allowances for rest and personal needs (varying from 10% to 25% of work time), normally exceeds the reference pace described above by 25%.

c) The piece-work rates are calculated so that a one-hundred percent (100%) work assignment will give an employee the opportunity to earn the objective rate.

d) For any delay or time loss beyond his control and for which he is not responsible, the frequency and length of which are not foreseeable (and which have not been taken into account in the machine efficiency calculations), the measured direct employee is paid the objective rate.

He reports these delays and time losses without delay and has them signed and approved by his department foreman or his assistant. Such are, for example, delays resulting from waiting for work, breakdown and maintenance of machinery, power failure, etc...

e) The total piece-work earnings will be calculated weekly for each employee on a measured direct occupation, and he is guaranteed that his average hourly earnings for the week will not be lower than ninety percent (90%) of the objective rate for his occupation.

Each employee will be informed of his guaranteed rate.

Each week, a sheet showing the following information for the preceding week will be posted in the department:

- Occupation and employee's names
- Objective rate
- Hours worked
- Average hourly piece-work earnings
- Total earnings (excluding shift and overtime premiums)
- Percent pay performance (in relation to objective rate)
- Payments for delays (included in the total earnings amounts)

f) Some occupations previously paid as measured direct occupations may be reclassified by the company as measured indirect occupations, and paid according to provisions in paragraph 10.02.

Also, some occupations previously paid as measured indirect or as unmeasured occupations may be reclassified by the company as measured direct occupations, and paid according to 10.01 (a) above.

In either case, the company will submit to the union the data pertinent to such changes at least two weeks prior to the change, and will meet with the union representatives on request to explain the change.

10.02 Measured indirect occupations:

a) Measured indirect occupations are to be paid hourly rates appearing on the rate lists for measured hourly-paid occupations annexed to this agreement, except the employees under probationary period (paragraph 8.02 of the collective agreement), and except otherwise provided in paragraph 10.03 below.

The occupations mentioned in paragraph 10.01 (f) above, reclassified from measured direct to measured indirect, are also to be paid on this same basis.

Some previously unmeasured occupations, which may be judged measurable by the company, are also to be paid on this same basis when, they have been measured and accordingly re-assigned.

b) The employees on measured indirect occupations are to be given around one-hundred percent (100%) work assignments as described in preceding paragraph 10.01 (b).

10.03 Work assignment:

a) Experienced employees on measured occupations, direct or indirect, shall be given around one-hundred percent (100%) work assignments, as defined in the preceding paragraph 10.01 (b).

It is understood that, in the case of employees on measured direct occupations and piece-work payment, there is no obligation on the company to offer such a work assignment, when the assignment is not available or when the employee is not capable or willing of handling such an assignment.

b) An individual employee with a physical handicap may request a work assignment lower than one-hundred percent (100%) on a measured occupation. The company will consider each such request individually.

If the request is reasonable and the employee is on a measured direct occupation, he will be given a work assignment between 90% and 100%, as near as possible to his request and on his regular occupation if practical, and he will be paid his piece-work earnings. If the employee is on a measured indirect occupation and his request is reasonable, he will be given a work assignment between 80% and 100% as near as possible to his request and on his regular occupation and if practical, and he will be paid according to his assignment.

At certain processes, due to the number or productive units, isolation of equipment, etc..., it may be impossible or impractical to implement a reduced work assignment for an employee on such a process without reducing the volume of production to the next process. Also an employee may not be capable of handling a work assignment between 90% and 100% on a measured direct occupation. In such cases, an occupational transfer for the employee will be considered in line with article 8.10 (Permanent transfers).

Such requests for a reduction in work assignments are limited to one per year for each employee and to one per occupation per month.

c) In the case of an employee on a measured occupation, direct or indirect, who in the opinion of the company, is not capable or willing of handling a 100% work assignment, the same conditions as in paragraph 10.03 (b) above for a reduced assignment or transfer will apply. However, before proceeding in this manner, the company will advise the union giving the reasons for the contemplated change.

d) When an employee on a measured direct occupation, who in the opinion of the company is continually incapable of producing at the present guarantee rate of 90%, his guarantee rate will then become 80% of the objective rate of his occupation.

However, before proceeding in this manner, the company will advise the union giving the reasons for such change.

Such case will be individually reviewed every six (6) months following the date of change.

10.04 Measured time values:

The measured time value is expressed in minutes and is the time required to perform an operation at a pace and with allowances for rest and personal needs as defined in paragraph 10.01 (b) under standard conditions.

The measured time values will not be changed except if a change in the conditions result in an increase or a decrease in the work content, or if in the opinion of both parties an error has been made that would require an adjustment.

Checks are made to make sure that conditions are maintained in conformity with those used to calculate a measured time value.

10.05 Information:

A copy of the job specification in force will be made available in the department. If the company makes a change concerning an occupation, the job specification will be also made available in the department.

The method of calculation of wage payment may be checked by the employee personally or by his representative.

ARTICLE 11
HOURS OF WORK AND OVERTIME

11.01

A) Five (5) Days Schedule

The normal work week shall be five (5) days of eight (8) hours continuous operation as per the following:

- a) 1st Shift: 23h00 Sunday to 07h00 Friday
- b) 2nd Shift: 15h00 Monday to 23h00 Friday
- c) 3rd Shift: 07h00 Monday to 15h00 Friday

B) Weekend Schedule

The normal work week shall be two (2) days of twelve (12) hours continuous operation as per the following:

- a) 4th Shift: 23h00 Friday to 11h00 Saturday
23h00 Saturday to 11h00 Sunday
- b) 5th Shift: 11h00 to 23h00 Saturday and Sunday

C) Stationary Engineers

Stationary Engineers will work the following:
07h00 to 19h00 – Over the shift cycle
19h00 to 07h00 – Over the shift cycle

The working hours may be modified in order to comply with special requirements. It is understood that during the term of this agreement any changes under this paragraph will be made only after agreement with the union.

It is understood, however, that nothing in this agreement shall be construed or interpreted to be a guarantee by the company of a specified number of hours of work or shifts per day or days of weekend as well as providing annual, weekly or daily guarantee wages.

This clause will not preclude the company from having employees work longer voluntary hours than specified above, provided that the overtime provision is observed.

a) Work performed on Saturday and Sunday shall be paid at a rate of time and one-half the employee's regular rate.

b) Employees working under the weekend shift operation schedule will get a premium of fifty percent (50%) for Saturday and Sunday.

c) If the company decides to work on a seven day operation the Saturday and Sunday premium will be at 50% for all employees.

d) All employees covered by the terms of this agreement shall be entitled for all hours worked in excess of the regular daily hours specified in Article 11 to a premium of 50% of either their regular rate or their average hourly piece-work or wage incentive plan earnings, as the case may be. It is understood that no pyramiding of premiums will apply.

e) Overtime for the Saturday or Sunday is fifty percent (50%) premium over and above weekend premiums after 8 or 12 hours as the case may be.

f) Any weekend shifts employees who work in excess of eight (8) continuous hours on any regular day Monday to Friday will be paid time and one half for the hours above eight (8). For any weekend shifts employees who work more than forty (40) hours per week including their regular weekend hours will be paid time and one half for hours worked above forty (40) hours. It is understood that hours for which a premium of fifty (50%) percent is paid for all hours above regular daily hours will not be included as part of the above forty (40) hours total.

Except employees working under seven day operation schedule or weekend operation schedule it is understood that Sunday work will be voluntary.

a) Work performed by Stationary Engineers and Watch Keepers on Saturday and Sunday shall be paid at a rate of time and one half the employee's regular straight time rate of pay.

b) Overtime performed on Saturday and Sunday will be at fifty percent (50%) premium over Saturday premium and fifty percent (50%) over Sunday premium after 8 or 12 hours, as the case may be.

Hours of work for which an employee receives premium compensation under this article or Schedule II, plant holidays shall not be counted as part of the normal work week and also as hours for which a premium of time and one-half or double time is paid.

11.05 Overtime Work:

a) Any employee may refuse to work overtime provided he has found a suitable replacement who is qualified to perform the work and notifies his department supervisor in advance.

b) Between May 15th and Labour Day, any work performed after 23h00 Friday, shall be voluntary, except for Stationary engineers, Watch keepers and weekend shift employees.

The employees who avail themselves of the provisions of this paragraph will advise their supervisor forty-eight (48) hours in advance. This forty-eight (48) hour notice will only be required if the company has advised the employees previously that it intends to operate on week-end work, otherwise the said notice will not be required.

A permanent list indicating the names of employees willing to perform work during the voluntary week-end period will be kept in each department by management. Such list will indicate the preference of the employees. An employee may have his name inscribed or deleted from said list the last Friday of every month.

Other than the cases provided for above the reasons that would excuse an employee from working during regular hours would excuse him from working overtime.

ARTICLE 12

REPORTING FOR WORK

12.01

If an employee reports for work at the regularly scheduled time for his shift, he shall be entitled to a minimum of four (4) hours work or pay at his regular hourly rate, unless previously notified by the company not to report for work. This provision shall not apply when lack of work is due to conditions beyond the control of the company, or when the employee is returning to work following an absence.

ARTICLE 13
WAGE RATES AND CALL-IN PAY

13.01

a) The rates of wages as outlined in Schedule I attached hereto shall be effective for the duration of this agreement.

b) The following rate will apply to probationary employees who are new to the company.

Number of working days	effective date - rate/hour
	Sept. 24, 1989	Sept. 23, 1990	Sept. 22, 1991
20	$ 7.04	$ 7.37	$ 7.73
20 (40)	$ 7.15	$ 7.49	$ 7.86
20 (60)	$ 7.25	$ 7.59	$ 7.96

After sixty (60) working days the employee will receive the contractual rate of pay for the occupation performed by him.

The maintenance department probationary employees are excluded from this agreement.

At the discretion of the department supervisor, if the employee becomes qualified before the probationary period ends, the employee will be paid at the contractual rate of the occupation.

These rates will be in effect up until the end of the labour agreement, ending September 26, 1992.

When an employee is directed by the company to work in another job classification for which he/she is recognized as being qualified*, he/she will be paid according to his/her performance at the rate of the higher paid occupation. However, if the employee is not qualified on the job to which he/she has been directed, he/she will be paid their average rate of earnings unless the rate for the new job is higher, in which case the rate for the new job will be paid.

* Generally speaking, qualified means that the employee has previously satisfactorily fulfilled and has worked at least one time on that occupation in the last six (6) months.

Whenever an employee is subject to layoff and he is using his right to displace, he will then receive the rate for such other job.

An employee called at home outside his regularly scheduled hours of work shall be paid not less than the equivalent for four (4) hours' pay at straight time rate, provided that the employee accepts such work as is available in order to qualify for such pay. The employee will present proof of service and the amount of pay received or to be received.

The calculations of his pay will be figured on the basis of the employee's pay for a complete normal period of work for the shift to which he belongs during the last week in which he did such work before he was called to jury service. The provisions enumerated above will also apply to witness pay in cases where it may not otherwise be retrievable.

This paragraph 13.04 will not apply where an employee voluntarily seeks jury service.
